Vote up your favorite Castiel quotes from Supernatural. Castiel: My name is, um... Well, my name's not important. I do know what blind faith is. I used to just follow orders without question, and I did some pretty terrible things. I would never look beyond the plan. And then, of course, when it all came crashing down, I found myself lost. I didn't know what my purpose was anymore. And then one day, something changed, something amazing. I... I guess I found a family, and I became a father. And in that, I rediscovered my faith. I rediscovered who I am. Page 2 28.4.2019 I'm a writer. Lying's kind of what we do. 13.4.2019 If she is... Then you're dead to me. Page 3 Jack Kline: I can't... think about losing him or... or Sam or you. I-I just... I hate... I hate thinking about it. Castiel: Yeah. So do I. But, Jack... you know, Sam and Dean, they're human, and they're very extraordinary, brave, special humans, but they're... They're still humans. And humans burn bright, but for a very brief time compared to, you know, things like us. And eventually, they're gone, even the very best ones, and we have to carry on. It's just... It's part of growing up. Jack Kline: Losing people? Castiel: Yes. Jack Kline: What's the point? Castiel: The point? Jack Kline: What's the point of being a cosmic being if everyone I care about is just gonna... leave? Castiel: The point is that they were here at all and you got to know them, you... When they're gone, it will hurt, but that hurt will remind you of how much you loved them. Jack Kline: That sounds... awful. Castiel: It is. But it's also living. So when Dean wakes up... And he will wake up... We just have to remember to appreciate the time that we all have together now. Castiel: Why do you hate this world enough to burn it to the ground? Michael: Because I can. Because... Me and my brother... my Lucifer... when we fought in my world, we thought that God would come back, give us answers... why He'd gone, what we'd done... but, instead, do you know what happened? Nothing. No God. Nothing. And now... now that I'm in here... now I know why. God... Chuck... is a writer, and like all writers, He churns out draft after draft. My world? This world? Nothing but failed drafts. And when He realizes that they're flawed, He moves on and tries again. Castiel: No, that's not how... Why would He do that? Michael: Because He doesn't care! About you, me... anything. Now, at first, I thought I'd do it better. Show Him. Be more God than God. But now... I just want to burn every one of His little worlds until I catch up to the old man. Castiel: And then what? Michael: Even God can die. Page 4 Michael: When I gave up Dean, you didn't think to question it, to ask why? Dean was... resisting me. He was too attached to you, to all of you. He wouldn't stop squirming... to get out, to get back. So I left... but not without leaving the door open... just a crack. Castiel: Why wait? Michael: To break him, to crush and disappoint him so completely that, this time, he'll be nice and quiet for a change... buried. And he is. He's gone. And now... I have a whole army out there, waiting, ready for my command, ready...for this. (snaps his fingers) Castiel: The plan is to subdue him using angel cuffs and spell work. They have to get Michael out of Dean. Jack: And if he doesn't leave? Castiel: Then they'll try to drive him out. Jack: And if that doesn't work? Castiel: Jack... Jack: Cas, Michael has to be stopped. Castiel: I know, and he will be, after Dean is... Jack: No, Dean doesn't matter. You're all so focused on trying to save Dean. And I get it, I understand, but if he can't be saved, if it comes down to him or Michael... Michael has to be stopped. Caged or killed... Castiel: And if that means that Dean dies, too!? Jack: Then Dean dies. I know this Michael. I've seen what he's done to an entire world, and so have you. If stopping that from happening here means that Dean has to die, then... Do you think he'd want it any other way? Castiel: At the time of the Great Fall, when the angels were banished from Heaven, I lost what I thought was everything. I had no grace, I had no... wings. I felt hopeless and useless. Jack: What did you have left? Castiel: Well... Well, I had Sam and Dean. But I had something else that was extremely helpful. I had myself. Just the basic me, as... as Dean would say, without all the bells and whistles. You know... Sam and Dean, they weren't born with their expertise. They've been at it since they were children. Failing, winning, developing over the years. Patience... persistence... Those are skills, too. The past, where you came from, that's important, but it is not as important as the future and where you're going. Castiel: You did well. Jack: All I did was get punched... in the face. Castiel: Well, to be fair, we all got punched in the face. Jack: That's not... Before, when I had my powers, I-I could have done something, and... Castiel: Jack. You don't... You... You don't have your powers. And you... Your grace should regenerate in time, but until then... Jack: I'm useless. I can't kill demons, I can't find Dean, and Michael is in our world, and I can't stop him. I can't do anything. I don't have anything. Castiel: Oh, Jack, that's just not true. You've got me. You have all of us. You have your family. And... And we are going to find Dean and we are going to beat Michael and we're going to do it together. We... Because that's what we do. Kipling: You see, recently, I had a revelation. You know, somebody asked me what it was as a demon walking the planet, destroying, drinking, defiling... you know, the Three D's... I didn't know. So, I sat back, and I gave it a good think, and I realized exactly what I wanted. Castiel: And? What is it? Kipling: Everything. Page 5 Sam Winchester: Welcome to the team. Gabriel: Uh...yeah. Not so much. I mean, thank you for the rescue and for the redemption arc. But, uh, I'm not really a team guy, so...I'm gonna bounce, okay? Um, but, you know, it's been, um... What's the opposite of fun? That. Sam Winchester: No, Gabriel, don't... you... you can't just walk away. If Michael comes here, he will end this world. Gabriel: And the last time the world was ending, I put my money on you. I think you can pull it off again. Castiel: No. You cannot turn your back on your father's creation. Gabriel: Castiel... my father turned his back on his creation. Guess it just runs in the family. Page 6 8.2.2018 Someone got mad and broke his warding. 8.2.2018 Okay, let's face it, Cassandra... 8.2.2018 You're too weak to overcome even your weakest creation. 20.1.2018 You're our brother, Cas.
